Back To School Online Icebreaker Games

Two games to welcome your team back to a year of learning and fun.

Game #1

Who is it?

Have everyone email a unique, strange, or unexpected fact about them to a team moderator. Then, the moderator will read each fact out loud over an online call with the team. Get ready for some laughs!

Allow the team to try and guess who wrote it. After they guess, ask the employee who wrote the fact to identify themselves and give any further context if necessary. This is a great way to get to know surprising new things about your teammates.

Let's Get Creative Just Like The Kids

Prep your meeting, by telling everyone to gather their favorite art supplies. At the very least, they need 2 sheets of paper and 1 pencil. But if you think your team will be into it, then go ahead and use colored pencils, paint, glue, dry noodles, and anything else you can stick on paper. Now, give everyone a drawing prompt to avoid creative block. We love, "Illustrate a cause or current event that you are passionate about." or "illustrate your favorite part of summer" or "illustrate your family" Allow 10 minutes for creating and 10 minutes for sharing and discussing. Have fun!
